CourseStorm Announces COVID-19 Education Relief Fund

Fund to Help Alleviate Economic Injury of Impacted Customers

ORONO, ME MARCH 16, 2020: CourseStorm, a powerful cloud-based class registration and management software solution headquartered in Orono, Maine, has announced the creation of the COVID-19 Education Relief Fund.

The fund will help alleviate economic injury resulting from the COVID-19-related disruption of CourseStorm customers' programming and their temporary loss of revenue. CourseStorm will distribute up to $10,000 among CourseStorm programs that have experienced extreme financial hardship due to COVID-19. Aid will be given to the programs which demonstrate the most need.

"The vast majority of our customers are small, non-profit organizations that lack the financial cushioning of larger institutions and are, therefore, feeling a disproportionate impact on their programs. We have been awed by the creativity and determination of our customers to adapt to the situation rapidly, but we're also keenly aware that more help is needed," said CourseStorm COO Matt James.

Applications for the Relief Fund will open on April 3rd, and decisions are expected to be made the week of April 27th. CourseStorm customers should expect to receive additional information with instructions and a link to the application form on April 3rd, 2020.

CourseStorm's robust software suite for small-to-medium-sized education providers has helped streamline access and grow enrollments for thousands of local classes at community organizations, schools, libraries, hospitals, and museums in 47 states across the country.
